

HEALTH AND SAFETY POLICY

The Company will, so far as it is reasonably practicable, take all measures to ensure the health and safety of employees at their work. These measures will also include provision for the safety of other persons who are likely to be affected by the company's operations and activities.

The management will ensure that employees are adequately trained in order to perform their duties safely.

The Company will provide and maintain appropriate equipment, including safety equipment, to minimise hazards.

The Company recognises its legal and moral responsibility to provide a safe working environment, safe systems of work and safe working equipment. Key to these achievements is the identification and minimisation of hazards, which will be actively pursued.

All employees are encouraged to participate in the evolution of the Safety Management System by identifying hazards and by providing suggestions for the improvement of safety in the workplace.
